INTRODUCTORY.

In this little publication is presented the genealogical record of the descendants of Thomas Scott and Sarah Hale. It is necessarily incomplete in some of the later generations, though I believe, in names at least, it contains every member of the family in the older generations, except possibly some who died in infancy and were known only in original family Bibles. In the later generations I believe it to be fairly complete as to names, to within the last twenty years, and wherever the data was available I have carried it down to the present day. With sufficient time, labor and expense it could be completed in full to date, but as it is, it represents infinite labor and considerable time and money. I feel that I have done my part, and there is no copyright on the publication. I not only give permission, but request any interested member of any branch of the family to use any part of it desirable in the compiling of a complete record of his family, or all of it should any be so ambitious as to undertake a complete genealogy of the whole family. All I ask is that any person so availing himself, send me a copy of his publication for my personal edification. In the presentation of this data I have tried to be accurate and I think with good success, though it is altogether likely some errors appear. This is due to the fact that my data has been gathered from correspondence. People do not always write legibly and the persons furnishing the information may have been careless in transcribing it from old records, as I may have been in some of the many times I have found it necessary to write and rewrite, in the evolution of the method I adopted for keeping my data properly classified. The frequent recurrence of the same name in different families made necessary the most careful systematizing to prevent confusion.

In conclusion I wish to acknowledge at this time my obligations to every one of the scores who have aided me in this work in one way or another. While it may have seemed a little thing at the time to answer a letter enclosing a few dates, this publication is but a compilation of those little things. Those who have rendered favors are too numerous to mention by name, but there are a few whose efforts in my behalf were not only invaluable but were made at great personal inconvenience or labor. I first wish to speak of my mother's mother, Mrs. Hannah Niles, who, though not a member of the Scott family, gave me the primary historical outline which was the basis of my work. She lived in childhood in Vermont, the geographical home of the Scott family. Her wonderful memory and long observation gave me many facts when most needed. This best of women was born February 7, 1802, and died in Burlingame Kansas, at the age of 100 years one month and thirteen days, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Wood, who with her husband also afforded me early inspiration. To Joseph Elliott Harris, who died in New York not many years ago, I am indebted for a great portion of the record of the Harris branch. To D. Q. Woodruff of St. Johnsbury, Vermont, I am under obligations largely for the record of the branch of the family to which he belongs, and the same is true of

Rev. Charles Scott of Reading, Mass.; Leslie Scott of New York city, formerly Brattleboro, and Miss Julia Ann Scott of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. There are many others, old and young, but the list is too long to enumerate and the word must be accepted for the deed.

In presenting the pictures of D. Q. Woodruff and Rev. Charles Scott the reader is permitted to view the likeness of ~~the~~ two men of whom the family should be proud; not for notable achievements, for I have found few in my researches who have become "great" in the eyes of the world, but for their strength of character and exemplary lives as the real types of the Scott family. It also pleases me to say that if black sheep have found record in these pages, their deeds have utterly escaped my knowledge and I could wish to have my name appear in no more reputable company than a Scott genealogy.

My own picture is presented at the earnest request of a few and to satisfy the possible curiosity of others.

C. S. SCOTT.

HOW TO FIND YOURSELF.

---

The scheme on which this record is compiled is as follows:

All data I have secured regarding the progenitors of the family, Thomas Scott and Sarah Hale, together with all the data I have obtained relative to their immediate children, is found in Chapter I.

Chapter II is devoted to the record of all the descendants of their eldest child, Clarissa.

Chapter III is devoted to the record of all the descendants of their second child, Thomas, Jr.

Chapter IV is devoted to the record of the descendants of the third child, and so on to the end.

There are few people who do not know the name of their grandfather and their great grandfather. There are few members of the family old enough to read this book who cannot find the name of either their father, grandfather or great grandfather or his wife, as the case may be, somewhere in the last column of the diagram found on the preceding page. They will then know the chapter in which their individual record is found; the chapter devoted to their branch of the family.

Every reader should peruse the first chapter and then if not interested in distant relatives, pass on to the chapter treating of his branch of the family. In the second and all subsequent chapters, the subject of each paragraph printed in full measure is a full cousin of the subject of every other paragraph printed in full measure in other chapters and the brother or sister of the others in full measure in his own chapter. The first indentation thereafter shows the next generation, the second indentation the subsequent generation, etc., except in such cases as the information relative to later generations was so meager it was included in the record of the parents.

ILLUSTRATION: My father's name is Henry, my grandfather's name was Asahel, as also was my great grandfather's. I read the first chapter, then find the name of my grandfather in the last column of the diagram, which directs me to chapter VI for the later history of my branch of the family.

It should be further noted that there is a frequent repetition of names, some appearing in different families in the same or other generations. Clarissa, for instance, appears in nearly every family in the last column of the diagram. In that event the reader can discover by noting the names of her brothers or sisters, which is the Clarissa sought for.

CHAPTER I.

The earliest knowledge of Thomas Scott, that I have been able to secure, is purely traditional. I began work upon the genealogical record set forth in the following pages in 1882, and it was related to me then by the older members of the family and by others of contemporaneous time, that some time between the years 1750 and 1755 Thomas Scott was kidnaped at his home somewhere in England, taken on board a vessel bound for America for the purpose of preventing him from inheriting a fortune of greater or lesser amount, and that on his arrival in New England he was bound out for a term of years by the master of the ship who desired in that way to remunerate himself for the expense of the lad's voyage over.

The first authentic record of the young man's career was originally secured from the town clerk of Ashford, Windham county, Connecticut, and relates that Thomas Scott, who was born in 1744, and Sarah Hale, who was born in 1748, were joined in marriage February 16, 1769. Thomas Scott at the same time received a deed to six acres of land from John Hale, presumably his father-in-law, and one John Scott witnessed the deed.

This information was furnished to me by one of the members of the Scott family with whom I was in correspondence when I began my work.

In the summer of 1781 Thomas Scott and wife moved to Halifax, Vermont, where they raised a family of ten children and spent the rest of their lives, supposedly, as Thomas Scott died there June 3, 1802, and was buried in Halifax Center. His wife died February 27th, 1805. The farm in Halifax on which they settled passed in ownership to their son, Abel, then to Martin Scott, then to George M. Scott and son Myrten H., who now lives upon it.

The names of the children of Thomas Scott were Clarissa, Thomas, Abel, Sally, Asahel, Joel, James, Henry, Elijah and Ruby. The exact order of their birth is a matter of doubt, as different records give different dates for some of them. My grandmother on my mother's side, Mrs. Samuel Niles, born in 1802, and familiar with the early history of the Scott family, tells me it was a matter of general belief among those with whom she was acquainted that Asahel Scott was the oldest child. I have also seen one record in which his birth is recorded as having occurred July 2, 1768, but which, if true, would suggest an embarrassing situation, as the record of his father's marriage is some seven months later. Another record announces the birth of Joel on July 26, 1779, while still another records the birth of Abel October 9, 1779. Both cannot be right. But some order must be observed, and after the most diligent search

I have been able to make I have adopted the following order as a basis of work, using the undisputed dates given and placing the others in accordance with the explanation that follows:

Clarissa, born 1770; Thomas, December 23, 1772; Abel, October 9, 1774; Sally, 1776; Asahel, July 2, 1778; Joel, July 26, 1779; James, October 26, 1781; Henry, November 23, 1783; Elijah, 1785; Ruby, 1788.

In placing the birth of Asahel in the year 1778 instead of 1768, as one record gives it, thus making him the fifth child instead of the first, my reasons are simply that the date of the birth of Clarissa seems undisputed, it is possible that in either the recording or the reading of the record of the birth of Asahel the third figure may have been taken for a 6 when a 7 was intended or actually written. Further, between 1774 and 1779 there is no authentic record of the birth of any of the children and Sally is said by some to have been born after Elijah, a statement not at all improbable. During the five years from '74 to '79 the birth of two children might have occurred without a violation of natural law. I think it highly probable therefore that Asahel was born in '78 and at any rate have given him the benefit of the doubt.

As for Sally it is in a measure immaterial as she had but one child and of her descendants, if any, I have been able to learn absolutely nothing. Of the life and achievements of Thomas Scott, Sr., I have learned nothing in addition to the above.

SECOND GENERATION.

CLARISSA Scott was born in Ashford, Conn., in 1770. In 1790 she was married to Joshua Harris, son of Job Harris, who moved with his family from New London, Conn., to Halifax in 1789. To the union of Clarissa Scott and Joshua Harris were born ten children, all in Halifax. Their names were Lydia, Lucy, Clarissa, Samuel, Ebenezer, Joshua, Joel, Reuben, Eunice and Joseph Elliott. To the latter, who died but a few years ago, I am indebted largely for the record I have of the Harris branch of the Scott family. Joshua Harris, Sr., died in Halifax, Vt., July 3, 1837. His wife, Clarissa, died of palsy September 22, 1833, in Halifax.

THOMAS Scott, Jr., was born in Ashford, Conn., December 23, 1772. He moved with his parents to Halifax, Vt., where he married Ann Carpenter and by whom he had three children. Two died in infancy and the third, Anna, grew to womanhood. Ann Carpenter Scott died October 28, 1806, and Thomas Scott was married in Lyndon, Vt., by Rev. Phineas Peck, to Abigail Winslow, who was born November 28, 1784 in Sandwich, N. H. They had eight children—Sally, Phineas, Cynthia, Mary, Betsy Angeline, Henry James, Clarissa Jane, and Horatio Plumb. Abigail died August 12, 1849 in Burke, Vt., and Thomas died and was buried in the same place February 6, 1851.

ABEL Scott, according to one record that was furnished me, and is asserted to be correct, was born in Ashford, Conn., October 9, 1774. He went to Halifax with his parents, where in 1796 he was married to Polly Cook, who was born in 1772. They had three children—Reuben, Freeman and Emily. Polly died March 20, 1805. (One record says 1808.) Abel then married Lydia Crozier, October 3 of the same year, 1805. Lydia was born in Halifax, June 29, 1777. Eight children were born to them—Polly, Cynthia, Sally, Lyman, Lydia, Martin, Abel and Reuben. Abel senior spent his whole life on the land taken up by his father when the family moved from Ashford to Halifax, and died and was buried in Halifax, May 25, 1856. His second wife, Lydia, died in Halifax, September 21, 1872. It is said that Abel served as captain in the army, probably in the war of 1812.

SALLY Scott was born, probably in Ashford, Conn., in 1776, moving with the family to Halifax. She married Samuel Crozier after which she lived but a few years, dying in Halifax, May 12, 1809, of palsy. They had but one child, Maria, and of her or her possible descendants I have learned nothing.

ASAHEL Scott was born in Ashford, Conn., July 2, 1778, according to the record I have accepted, though another record says July 2, 1768. He moved to Halifax in 1781 and married Elizabeth Peck, who was born in New Hampshire, August 29, 1772. The date of their marriage is unknown. In 1810 they moved to East Smithfield, Bradford county, Pa., then practically a wilderness, settled on a farm and raised a family of eight children—Linda, Ansel, Celia, Asahel, Eliza, Aaron Culver, Elmina and Benjamin Peck. Asahel senior died December 29, 1823, in East Smithfield, and his wife died May 10, 1847, in Springfield, Bradford county, Pa. After the death of Asahel senior the farm came into the possession of Asahel junior, who retained it till late in the '60s, when he sold out to a cousin, Orrin Scott, and it is now in the possession of one of his children, having been owned by some member of the family continuously for nearly a hundred years.

JOEL Scott, the last member of the family born in Ashford, Conn., first saw the light July 26, 1779. He went to Vermont with his parents but must have returned to Connecticut when a young man, for January 14, 1805, he was married in Manchester, Conn., to Clarissa Risley, who was born in Manchester, July 7, 1780. They settled down in Halifax and to the union were born Ruby, Orrin, Susan R., Oliver W. and Clarissa M. Clarissa senior died in Halifax June 7, 1822. May 27, 1823, Joel was married in Halifax to Elizabeth Hall, who was born July 7, 1783, in Somers, Conn. They had one child, named Charles. Joel died in Halifax, July 28, 1849, also on the same land secured by his father when the family moved from Ashford. Elizabeth, his second wife, died in Gloucester, R. I., March 16, 1875, and was taken to Halifax for interment beside her husband. Joel, it is said, was a captain in the American army, but whether in the war of 1812 or the French and Indian war I am not informed.

JAMES Scott, who also served his country in the army, gaining the rank of captain, was born in Halifax, October 26, 1781. April 12, 1810, he was married to Clarissa Smith, who was born in Marlboro, Vt., July 23, 1787. Eleven children were born to them—Thomas, Jonas, Henry, Alson, Oshea, Clarissa, James Hale, Martin, Horace, Lucy Tucker, and Sarah Jane. Captain James Scott died in Halifax, May 27, 1850, having spent his entire manhood on the farm he first settled upon in early life. His wife died in Brattleboro, March 31, 1879, in her ninety-second year.

HENRY Scott was born November 23, 1783, in Halifax, Vt., and died in Waterville, Me., September 20, 1859. He was buried in Athens, Me. His wife, Sarah Jones, was born October 18, 1785, in North Yarmouth, Me., and died in Athens, Me., February 18, 1876. They were married in North Yarmouth, Me., October 8, 1807. Their children were Elizabeth Hobart, Sarah Ann, Mary Hale, Sarah Maria, David Henry, Clarissa Ruby and Henry Milton.

ELIJAH Scott was born in Halifax, Vt., September 4, 1785. Betsy Woodward was born April 19, 1788. They were married February 5, 1807, and settled in Bennington, of revolutionary fame. Their children were Diana, Julia Ann, Freeman, Elijah, Jr., Chester, Betsey, Timothy, Alvin, Timothy 2nd, Abel, Samuel, Ruth and Julia Ann 2nd. Elijah senior died in North Bennington, Vt., December 3, 1840, and was buried in Shaftsbury, Vt. Betsy, his wife, died in Mount Lebanon, N. Y., in the Shaker settlement, August 31, 1863, and was buried in Shaftsbury, Vt.

RUBY Scott, the third daughter and youngest child of Thomas and Sarah Scott, was born in Halifax in 1788. She died while yet a young woman, succumbing March 9, 1805, to palsy, of which both her sisters died and which seems to have been a family disease. She died and was buried in Halifax, and so far as I can learn was never married.

CHAPTER II.

THIRD AND LATER GENERATIONS—DESCENDANTS OF CLARISSA SCOTT AND JOSHUA HARRIS.

LYDIA Harris, the eldest child of Clarissa Scott and Joshua Harris, was born in Halifax, Vt., October 16, 1791. She was married in Halifax to Uriah Thayer. They had one child in Halifax, which died in infancy, and shortly after they moved to Jackson, Pa., where ten children were born to them, their names being Lydia, Mary, Emeline, Martin, Horace, Samuel, Sophronia, Harvey, Royal and Phila. Both Uriah and Lydia Thayer, the parents, died in Jackson, dates unknown.

LYDIA H. Thayer was born in Jackson, Pa., June 6, 1818. She married Buel Potter and they settled in Gibson, Pa., where she died in 1879. They had four children, two sons and two daughters. The second daughter died in 1869 at the age of 28. The oldest son, Everton B. Potter, lives in Binghamton, N. Y., and the youngest son, Irving D. Potter, is in Alaska. The oldest child of Lydia and Buel Potter was Lurinda L., who was born in December, 1836. June 2, 1869 she married John L. Babbitt and they now live in Whitesboro, N. Y. They have one son, Benjamin T. Babbitt, born October 9, 1874.

MARY Thayer, third child of Lydia and Joshua Harris, was born in Jackson, Pa., August 15, 1819. She married Charles Potter and their married life was spent in Jackson, where he died. Mrs. Potter then took up her residence with her children at Susquehanna Depot, Pa.

EMELINE Thayer was born in Jackson, Pa., January 30, 1821. She married Stephen Potter and they were living, at my latest information, at Gibson, Pa., on the homestead formerly belonging to Mr. Potter's father.

MARTIN Thayer was born August 26, 1822, in Jackson, Pa. He married Katherine _____, of Waverly, N. Y., where they lived a number of years, and at my latest advice, resided near Olean, N. Y.

HORACE Thayer was born December 30, 1824, in Jackson, Pa., and was married in Bethany, Pa., to _____, who died many years ago. Horace at latest information was living in Bethany.

SAMUEL Thayer, the seventh child of Uriah and Lydia Thayer, was born in Jackson, Pa., in July, 1825. Have not learned address, if living, or whether he was ever married.

SOPHRONIA Thayer, the eighth child, was born in Jackson, Pa., November 1, 1826. She married Charles Starkweather, who died some time ago, and at latest information Sophronia was living in Jersey City with a daughter.

HARVEY Thayer was born in Jackson in March, 1828, and died in infancy.

ROYAL Thayer was born in Jackson, Pa., August 22, 1830. He was twice married, but both wives are dead and Royal at last account lived in Kansas.

PHILA Thayer was born in Jackson, Pa., June 20, 1832. She married Charles Payne and at my latest information they were living at Whitesboro, N. Y. They had two children, but both are dead. The son left a family in the west.

LUCY Harris, the second child of Clarissa Scott and Joshua Harris, was born in Halifax, Vt., April 28, 1793. She was married in Halifax to Stephen Tucker. They settled in Jackson, Pa., in 1816, where ten children were born to them and where both died at advanced ages, Mr. Tucker being over ninety. Their children were James, Clarissa, Elizabeth, Sarah, Willison, Eunice H. Evander, Emerson N., Darius and Amos.

JAMES Tucker, their oldest child, was born April 26, 1817, in Jackson, Pa. He was married January 1, 1841, to ——, and died March 6, 1861.

CLARISSA Tucker, the second child, was born in Jackson, Pa., November 12, 1818, and married Horace Tracey. Mr. Tracy died a little over four years later. They had one son and one daughter. The daughter died three years later. The son moved with his mother to Ripon, Wis., where at this date (1902), Mrs. Tracy is serving her forty-third year as a member of the faculty of Ripon college. Though of advanced years she is very busy in church and educational work.

DR. HORACE Tracy was born in ——, Pa., in ——. Went with his mother to Wisconsin, graduated at Ripon college in 1868, studied medicine in Chicago and New York, graduated from the University of New York in 1870, and went as assistant surgeon in the Franco-Prussian war. After much hospital work in Berlin he returned to this country, was an eminent surgeon for twenty years and died of apoplexy in 1900. He left a wife and two daughters, the oldest one born in 1880.

ELIZABETH Tucker was born in Jackson, Pa., April 12, 1820. March 12, 1840 she was married to Horatio Wells. He died and she married William Barrett. In 1886 they lived in Jackson, Pa. Mrs. Barrett has died since then.

SARAH Tucker was born March 6, 1822, in Jackson, Pa., married Rufus Walworth in Gibson, Pa., and was thrown from a wagon at Hop Bottom, Pa., and killed, July 16, 1883.

WILLISON Tucker, the fifth child, was born April 29, 1823, in Jackson, Pa. He married Permelia Pickering, and their home is in Thompson, Pa.

EUNICE H. Tucker, the sixth child, was born January 5, 1827, in Jackson, Pa. She was married November 2, 1851, to Hubbard Niles in Jackson, and died January 2, 1877. An only living child was in Nome, Alaska, in 1902.

EVANDER Tucker, the seventh child of Lucy and Stephen Tucker, was born in Jackson, Pa., February 23, 1829. January 1, 1850, he married Theoda Mott and lives in Jackson, Pa., on the old homestead.

EMERSON N. Tucker, the eighth child, was born August 28, 1830, in Jackson, Pa. He was married December 25, 1855, to Hannah Smith. He was a railroad engineer and in 1886 he resided in Port Jervis, N. Y.

DARIUS Tucker was born November 29, 1832, in Jackson, Pa., and died November 12, 1834.

AMOS Tucker was born February 27, 1835, in Jackson, Pa. He married ——, and lives in Kansas.

CLARISSA Harris, the third child of Clarissa Scott and Joshua Harris, was born June 11, 1795, in Halifax, Vt., and died there February 16, 1806.

SAMUEL Harris, the fourth child of Clarissa Scott and Joshua Harris, was born in Halifax, December 16, 1796. He married Filey Otis of Halifax and settled in Portland, N. Y., in 1821, where he died September 1, 1822, leaving one son, whose name was Samuel Elliott, and who died in Detroit, Mich., in 1864, leaving one child, which has since died.

EBENEZER Harris, the fifth child of Clarissa Scott and Joshua Harris, was born in Halifax, Vt., April 4, 1799. He settled in Portland, N. Y., in 1817, where he was married October 22, 1820, to Rachel Baldwin, who was born in Vermont. They had nine children, all born in Portland, N. Y., their names being Clarissa, Filey, Olive C., Fidelia R., Lydia, Emily, Joseph Addison, Mary L., and Manly S. Ebenezer Harris died in Sheridan, N. Y., October 30, 1875, and in 1884 his wife was living with her daughter, Clarissa, in Berlinville, Ohio.

CLARISSA Harris, the oldest child of Ebenezer and Rachel Harris, was born in Portland, N. Y., September 3, 1821. She married James Quigley, and after his death, William Waite, with whom she lived in Berlinville, Ohio, in 1884.

FILEY Harris, the second child, was born June 3, 1823, in Portland, N. Y. She married J. F. Arnold, October 30, 1844, and in 1884 resided in Peru, Neb.

OLIVE C. Harris was born in Portland, N. Y., May 4, 1824. She married E. Jones, who died in Dunkirk, N. Y., February 10, 1862, his wife dying three days later. Their deaths resulted from a railroad accident. Both were buried in Sheridan, N. Y.

FIDELIA R. Harris was born in Portland, N. Y., April 19, 1826. She married H. Reid in Fredonia, July 1, 1860. In 1884 both were practicing physicians in Des Moines, Iowa.

LYDIA Harris was born October 17, 1827, in Portland, N. Y. She married L. Bryant, who died and later she married Martin Carey. In 1884 they lived in Portland, N. Y.

EMILY Harris was born November 29, 1829, in Portland, N. Y. She married George Robinson and they settled in Minnesota.

JOSEPH A. Harris was born April 29, 1831, in Portland, N. Y. He married Delia Ann Skinner and they settled in Minnesota, but Mr. Harris died with the smallpox while home on a visit.

MARY L. Harris was born June 27, 1835, in Portland, N. Y. Her first marriage was to William Bush and after his death she married David Convis and in 1884 they lived in Burr Oak, Kansas.

MANLY S. Harris, the last child of Ebenezer and Rachel Harris, was born in Portland, N. Y., June 11, 1837. He married Lodoiska Carey, January 1, 1866, and in 1884 they lived in Dunkirk, N. Y.

JOSHUA Harris was born June 16, 1801, in Halifax, Vt. January 13, 1825, he was married in Halifax to Nancy Miner, who was born August 3, 1803, in Colerain, Mass. They had seven children, whose names were Joshua A., Harvey, Lorenzo, Nancy L., Elliott, Albert R., and Clarissa, all born in Halifax. Joshua, senior, died in Halifax, April 16, 1878, and in 1884 his wife was living in Charlotte, Vt.

JOSHUA A. Harris, their first child, was born in Halifax, February 26, 1826. He married Hannah H. Dudley and at my latest information they were living in Charlotte, Vt.

HARVEY Harris was born December 3, 1827, in Halifax, Vt., where he died October 16, 1829.

LORENZO Harris was born in Halifax, August 6, 1829, married Mrs. Mary L. Smith and in 1884 lived in Brattleboro, Vt.

NANCY L. Harris was born April 29, 1831, in Halifax, Vt., married A. H. Tucker and died February 26, 1873.

ELLIOTT Harris was born in Halifax Vt., December 29, 1832, married Ellen Helsey and died June 9, 1883.

ALBERT R. Harris was born February 25, 1834, in Halifax, Vt., married Francelia N. Niles and at my latest information they lived in Brattleboro, Vt.

CLARISSA Harris was born in Halifax, Vt., August 8, 1835, and was married first to S. B. Niles and later to W. M. Winchester. She died February 8, 1874.

JOEL, the seventh child of Clarissa and Joshua Harris, senior, was born in Halifax, Vt., March 20, 1803, and died there February 25, 1810.

REUBEN Harris, the eighth child of Clarissa and Joshua Harris, senior, was born in Halifax, Vt., March 19, 1805. He was married to Olive Wells, by whom he had six children, all born in Jackson, Pa., whose names were Elliott, Olive Wells, Scott, Jane, George and an infant that died with its mother. Reuben's wife, Olive, died June 13, 1837, when he married Lovisa Stearns, by whom he had three children, Warren Mason, Eunice and Ella. Lovisa died April 16, 1883, and Reuben died October 3, 1885.

September 10, 1831, he was married to Mary Niles, who was born in Halifax the same year he was, 1809. By her he had one child, William E. Harris. His wife died January 17, 1833, and on October 16, 1835, he married Harriet Niles, by whom he had four children, Samuel Dexter, Freedom Minerva and Ella G. Harriet died February 28, 1852, and April 12, 1854, he married Eunice Goodwin, by whom he had one child, Hattie. Joseph Elliott died in Portland, N. Y., at an advanced age.

WILLIAM E. Harris, the only child of Joseph E. and Mary Harris, was born August 4, 1832. In October, 1857, he married Katharine Judd. In 1860 he moved to Minnesota, where he engaged in farming. In 1885 his address was Hamilton, Minn., and he had living three sons and five daughters, two of whom were married.

SAMUEL DEXTER, the first child of J. E. Harris by his second wife, was born September 11, 1836, and died August 5, 1838.

MARY FREEDOM was born October 12, 1838, married C. W. Burton, May 8, 1861. In 1883 they lived in Portland, N. Y., and had three children. Later moved to Brocton, N. Y.

MINERVA Harris was born August 12, 1842. She married G. W. Harris in 1863 and at my latest information they lived in Portland, N. Y., and had three children.

ELLA G. Harris, the last child of J. E. Harris, by his second wife, was born July 17, 1844, married in 1871 and died of consumption, February 20, 1873.

HATTIE, the only child of Joseph Elliott Harris, by his last wife, Eunice, was born September 11, 1860, married S. B. Outhank, November 25, 1880, and at my latest information lived in Portland, N. Y., and had one child.

CHAPTER III.

THIRD AND LATER GENERATIONS—DESCENDANTS OF THOMAS SCOTT AND ANN CARPENTER AND ABIGAIL WINSLOW.

Of Thomas Scott's first two children by Ann Carpenter, one lived to be a young man and the other died in infancy. Some say there were but two children instead of three, but at any rate only one, Ann, lived to maturity.

ANN Scott, the third (probably) child of Thomas Scott and Ann Carpenter, was born in Lyndon, Vt., (supposedly) in 1806. She was married in New York to William Sterling, who was born in 1803 or 1804. They moved to Belleville, Mich., in the early days. They had four children—Maconda, John D., Edwin and Goodell Sterling. Ann Sterling died in Belleville, Mich., January 25, 1859, and was buried there. William Sterling married again and had one daughter by his second wife, who resided with her mother in Belleville in 1883. William Sterling died in Belleville, March 15, 1883.

MACONDA Sterling, the eldest child of William and Ann Sterling, was born in 1828 or 1829 and married Charles Danes. Their children were Ann Scott Danes and William S. Danes. Maconda died February 10, 1855, in Michigan. Her husband afterward married again and has several children.

ANN SCOTT Danes was born in Michigan in 1850 and married Artimus Ward. In 1883 they had five children, the family residing in Belleville, Mich.

WILLIAM S. Danes was born in 1855. I have no other data.

JOHN D. Sterling was born in 183— and in 1883 resided in Mancelona, Antrim county, Mich.

EDWIN Sterling was born in 1831 and died October 22, 1851, in Michigan.

MARY Scott, the fourth child of Thomas Scott and Abigail Winslow, was born January 9, 1816, in Lyndon, Vt. She was married in Burke, Vt., November 6, 1842, by Rev. Rufus Godding, to Horace Evans Woodruff, who was born July 7, 1819, in Burke, Vt., and who died August 25, 1898, in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and was buried in St. Johnsbury Center. His ancestors came from Farmington, Conn. They had two children, Daniel Quimby and Halsey Scott Woodruff.

DANIEL QUIMBY Woodruff was born in Burke, Vt., April 7, 1844, residing there till 1857, living in Lyndon, Vt., 1857-1867, in Hartford in 1867, moving the same year to St. Johnsbury, Vt., which has been his home since then and where he now resides (1902). Mr. Woodruff received a common school and academic education. The first nine years of his life were spent on a farm on West Hill in Burke; next four years at Burke Hollow, where his father was in mercantile business in company with George Hobart as "Woodruff & Hobart." Mr. Hobart was an uncle of ex-Vice President Hobart. The next two years his father was station agent at Lyndon, after the extension of the Conn. & Pass. railroad from St. Johnsbury, and Daniel commenced attending Lyndon academy. His father was next employed by L. K. Quimby and others for eight years in the tin business as wholesale salesman and clerk

(except a year and a half in San Francisco, Cal., in the restaurant business) his family remaining in Vermont. The subject of this sketch finished the academy and high school, spent three years' apprenticeship at the tinsmith trade, late in 1866 serving as a journeyman. In January, 1867, the family lived in Hartford, Vt., where Mr. Woodruff was in the stove and tinsmith business eight months, in September the same year moving to St. Johnsbury, where with his father, H. E. Woodruff, he was in the wholesale and retail tin, stove, furnace and hardware business. In 1890 father and son sold out and located at "Riverside," two miles north of their former home, engaging in general farming and market gardening. H. E. Woodruff died in 1898 and D. Q. Woodruff now resides there with his mother, wife and youngest son. D. Q. Woodruff was married in Burke, Vt., April 8, 1872, by Rev. E. W. Culver, to Mary Ella Newell, who was born in Burke, February 15, 1848. They have two children, Irving S., and Horace N. D. Q. Woodruff has long taken great interest in genealogical work and has prepared, though has yet failed to publish the following genealogies: Of the Winslow family and the Thomas Scott branch of the Scott family being the two families from which his mother sprung; the Woodruff genealogy and the Newell and Watkins lineages to which families his wife belongs.

IRVING SCOTT Woodruff was born June 22, 1874, in St. Johnsbury, Vt. He received an academic education, fitted himself as a stenographer and typewriter and is now in the employ of the government at Portsmouth navy yard.

HORACE NEWELL Woodruff was born December 28, 1877, in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and is a graduate of St. Johnsbury business college. He is also a stenographer and typewriter and lives with his parents at "Riverside," St. Johnsbury.

HALSEY SCOTT Woodruff, second and last child of Mary Scott and H. E. Woodruff, was born October 22, 1850, in Burke, Vt., died August 22, 1851, and was buried in Burke Hollow, Vt.

BETSEY ANGELINE Scott, the fifth child of Thomas and Abigail Scott, was born October 2, 1817, in Lyndon, Vt. She was married there June 8, 1840, by Rev. Daniel Quimby, to Nathan Goodell, who was born August 6, 1807, in Massachusetts. Mr. Goodell died August 24, 1866, in Burke, Vt., and was buried in Burke Hollow. Mrs. Goodell died February 7, 1883, in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and was buried there. Their children were: Ellen Adelaide, Albert Corrodan, Ursula Ann, Clara Jenette, Henry Scott and Herbert Jonas.

ELLEN ADELAIDE Goodell, the oldest child of Betsey and Nathan Goodell, was born July 20, 1842, in Lyndon, Vt. She was married May 27, 1863, by Rev. L. H. Harris to Azro Ashley Sleeper, who was born March 25, 1838, in Newark, Vt. In 1883 they lived in Hanover, Iowa, their address being Denison, Iowa, and had one child:

GUY ALBERT Sleeper, born May 1, 1864, in Newark, Vermont.

ALBERT CORRODAN Goodell, the second child of Betsey and Nathan Goodell, was born August 29, 1844, in Lyndon, Vt., and died September 1, 1857, in Burke, Vt., being buried in Burke Hollow.

URSULA ANN Goodell, the third child of Betsey and Nathan Goodell, was born September 13, 1846, in Lyndon, Vt. She was married in St. Johnsbury, Vt., March 15, 1870, by Rev. E. C. Bass to Charles Henry Garland, who was born August 29, 1846, in Barnstead, N. H. They had one child, Leon Heywood Garland. Ursula died July 11, 1872, of smallpox in St. Paul, Minn. Her husband then married Helen Ann Ainger. In 1883 they lived in Sheffield, Vt., and had one child, Ernest Garland.

LEON HEYWOOD Garland was born April 1, 1871, in Greenleaf, Minn.

CLARA JENETTE Goodell, the fourth child of Betsey and Nathan Goodell, was born September 4, 1849, in Lyndon, Vt. She was married in St. Johnsbury, September 11, by Rev. Mr. Noyes to Alonzo Packard, who was born April 6, 1845, in Northumberland, N. H. In 1883 they lived in St. Johnsbury, and had two children, Carol and Ray Bernard.

CAROL Packard was born July 4, 1872, in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and died there July 27 of the same year.

RAY BERNARD Packard was born July 30, 1874, in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

HENRY SCOTT Goodell, fifth child of Betsey and Nathan Goodell, was born May 18, 1852, in Burke, Vt. He was married in St. Johnsbury, Vt., June 11, 1873, by Rev. B. M. Tillotson to Nancy Ellen Drown, who was born February 7, 1853, in Wolcott, Vt. They had no children. Henry died July 4, 1875, in St. Johnsbury, and July 3, 1878, his widow was married in North Troy, Vt., to Rawson Edwin Bailey. In 1883 they lived in North Troy.

HERBERT JONAS Goodell, sixth and last child of Betsey and Nathan Goodell, was born August 25, 1855, in Burke, Vt. He never married and in 1883 lived in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

HENRY JAMES Scott, the sixth child of Thomas and Abigail Scott, was born December 29, 1820, in Lyndon, Vt. He was married in Lawrence, Mass., January 5, 1852, by Rev. Johnathan Woodman to Annis Robbins, who was born July 31, 1830, in Peru, Vt. In 1883 they lived in Dixon, Ill., and had two children, Herbert Winfield and Ida Amelia.

HERBERT WINFIELD Scott was born November 11, 1856, in Dixon, Ill. He was married in Amboy, Ill., June 21, 1882, by Rev. Mr. North to Mattie O. Morgan.

IDA AMELIA Scott was born January 1, 1861, in Dixon, Ill. She lived in Dixon in 1883 and was not married.

CLARISSA JANE Scott, the seventh child of Thomas and Abigail Scott, was born March 18, 1823, in Lyndon, Vt. She was married in Burke, Vt., January 8, 1849, by Horace E. Woodruff, Esq., to Jason Powers, who was born December 3, 1820, in Burke, Vt. They had no children. Clarissa died December 21, 1851, in Burke, Vt., and was buried in Burke Hollow. In 1883 Mr. Powers lived in Burke, his address being West Burke.

HORATIO PLUMB Scott, the youngest child of Thomas and Abigail Scott, was born November 21, 1828, in Lyndon, Vt. He married Alice _____, and they had three children. One was named Byron. All trace of the family is lost to its relatives on the Scott side except that Horatio died August 22, or August 23, 1866, near Cairo, Ill. Byron is known to have been in Chicago at the time of the great fire and as nothing has been heard of him since then it is supposed that he perished during that tragic event.

They spent most of their married life in Bradford county, Pa., and both died in Smithfield, Pa., Ansel on November 13, 1870, and Hope in July, 1858. Their children were Hope, Polly, Walter, Ellen, Wallace, Marie, Ansel P., Frances and Emma, all born in Smithfield.

HOPE Scott was born December 12, 1824, and died December 12, 1824, in Smithfield.

POLLY Scott was born February 3, 1826, and died in Smithfield, April 4, 1846.

WALTER Scott was born September 3, 1827, in Smithfield, and married Louisa A. Farwell. They had two children, one of whom is dead. Walter died in Smithfield.

ELLEN Scott was born July 20, 1829, in Smithfield. She married J. Gerould Rice and they had one child. They lived in Smithfield, where Mr. Rice died in December, 1887.

WALLACE Scott was born August 7, 1830, in Smithfield. He married Mahala Gurney, by whom he had three children. Mahala died December 22, 1887, and was buried December 25. Wallace was a soldier in the Union army and sacrificed an arm for the love of country. He died in May, 1902.

MARIE Scott was born February 26, 1832, in Smithfield, Pa., and married Jerre Adams. They lived in Agawam, Mass. They had two children, one of whom is dead. Marie died October 24, 1898. A son, Scott Adams, is engaged in the practice of law at 455 Main street, Springfield, Mass.

ANSEL P. Scott was born September 20, 1833, in Smithfield. He married Amanda Brown, who was born in July, 1836, in Springport, N. Y. They had three children. The family moved to Kansas in the later '60s, since when Ansel has been engaged in farming near Burlingame. He was a Union soldier serving in the Twenty-third New York volunteer infantry.

MARY Scott was born October 2, 1864, in East Smithfield, Pa., and came to Kansas with her parents. She was married in 1888 to George W. Ely, both being school teachers. Mr. Ely died in December, 1897, since when Mrs. Ely has taught school, residing with her parents and brother. They had no children.

ANNA MARIA Scott died in infancy.

CHARLES Scott was born October 2, 1870, near Burlingame, Kan. October 3, 1895, he was married to Harriet Downie, and they have two children—Paul H., born August 27, 1896, and Frank W., born March 14, 1900. Charles lives at Scranton, Kan.

FRANCES Scott was born in Smithfield, Pa., August 3, 1836. She married Edwin R. Mattoon, but had no children and died in Smithfield, July 15, 1865. Mr. Mattoon married again and had one child, Frances, who lives in Ulster, Pa. He died, his second wife surviving him.

EMMA Scott was born September 1, 1839. She married Willard Wood, who owned till his death a few years ago the old Wood homestead, which was settled upon in 1809. They had one son, Wellie, who with his mother now resides in Smithfield.

CELIA Scott was born May 2, 1800, in Halifax, Vt. She was married May 5, 1822, in East Smithfield, Pa., to Joseph Perkins, who was born in Groton, Conn., July 25, 1795. Mr. Perkins died in East Smithfield, July 10, 1866, and Celia died March 1, 1876, in Menominee, Wis. Their children were Clara, Sally E., John Stedman, Alma, Aaron Culver, William Henry, Mary and H. Clay.

CLARA Perkins was born April 29, 1823, in East Smithfield, Pa., and March 26, 1843, she married George N. Shuart.

They reside in East Smithfield and had eleven children, of whom three are dead.

SALLY Perkins was born November 14, 1825, in East Smithfield. She married Dr. Philander Gates September 5, 1852, and their residence is Clear Lake, Wis. They had seven children, of whom four are dead.

MARY Perkins was born March 16, 1836, in East Smithfield, married Aholiab Buck, and their residence is Elmira, New York.

H. CLAY Perkins was born in East Smithfield, Pt., September 25, 1841. He enlisted in the Union army and died in an army hospital at Alexandria, Va., March 3, 1862.

ASAHEL Scott was born August 26, 1802, in Halifax, Vt. He came to East Smithfield, Pa., with his father in 1810, settling on the homestead which he owned till late in life and which was then sold to Orrin Scott. May 1, 1829, he was married in Springfield, Pa., by Rev. Noel Rouse to Malinda Sherman, daughter of Oliver and Betsey Sherman, and who was born in Burlington, Pa., November 17, 1807. Shortly after the civil war they sold the farm in Pennsylvania and moved to Turner Junction, Ill., with their son, Henry, and family. Asahel died there February 9, 1867. Malinda remained there till the early '70s when she moved to Burlingame, Kan., and lived with her son, Henry, for several years. Returning to Pennsylvania on a visit Malinda was taken sick and died in Springfield, Pa., August 6, 1882, after a lingering illness. Their children were Henry Clay, Luinda C., Celia Loretta, Asahel, Polly Jane, and Anna Lodeska.

HENRY CLAY Scott was born April 17, 1831, in East Smithfield, Pa. He was married in Smithfield, November 11, 1863, to Olive A. Niles, who was born July 4, 1837, in Halifax, Vt. Henry lived on the farm with his father till the close of the war, except two years in which he served with the Union troops in the Twenty-third New York volunteer infantry. In his earlier life he had learned the carpenter's trade. After the war the family moved to Turner Junction, Ill., and Henry engaged in farming till early in 1870, when with his family he moved to Burlingame, Osage county, Kan., where Henry followed his trade for a number of years and later engaged in farming, which he has continued to the present time (1902). Three children were born to them—Clinton Sherman, Ernest Farwell and Willard Wood Scott. Olive Scott died July 28, 1870, but a few months after going to Burlingame, and September 11, 1882, Henry married Nellie S. Russel, in Ontario, N. Y., having previously met her in Burlingame, where she was engaged in teaching school.

CLINTON S. Scott was born in East Smithfield, Pa., January 23, 1865. Went with his parents to Turner Junction, Ill., and to Burlingame, Kan., in 1870, where he spent his boyhood working on the farm and later in stores and postoffice, meanwhile attending school as much as possible. The only thing worthy of mention in connection with his early life was the inspiration to compile this record. Nothing so notable has occurred since. In March, 1884, he went to Phoenix, Arizona, where he was successively employed in the postoffice, several different stores and finally as a newspaper reporter. He was married July 5, 1896, to Miss Nettie Carrier, who was born July 26, 1867, in Salem, Mercer county, Pa. They have no children.

ERNEST F. Scott was born December 1, 1866, in Turner Junction, Ill. Went to Kansas with his parents, where his employment was similar to that of his elder brother till the latter left home for life behind the counter. Ernest improved what opportunities he had for schooling, but preferred an agricultural life and now lives on the farm near Burlingame, industrious and unmarried, the support and mainstay of his father.

WILLARD WOOD Scott was born December 13, 1868, in Turner Junction, Ill. Went to Kansas in 1870 with his parents, where his mother died soon after, when he was taken to Smithfield, Pa., by his father and left in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Willard A. Wood, having been named after the former. He was given kindly care, but was taken sick and died in July, 1872.

LUCINDA C. Scott was born in East Smithfield, Pa., May 23, 1833. November 29, 1864, she was married in East Smithfield to Hiram Ketcham. They moved from Pennsylvania to Turner Junction, Ill. Two children, Fred and Mabel, were born to them and Mr. Ketcham, a bridge carpenter by trade, fell from a bridge in Chicago and was killed, September 16, 1871. September 29, 1875, Lucinda was married in Turner Junction, Ill., to M. W. Murray, a widower with several children, and by whom she had two children—Elden Scott, born July 14, 1876, and died April 30, 1881; Ruby Luetta, born July 24, 1878, and died April 24, 1881. M. W. CHESTER Scott, the fifth child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born October 15, 1812, in North Bennington, Vt., and died there January 27, 1813.

BETSEY Scott, the sixth child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born in North Bennington, Vt., November 28, 1813. October 11, 1835, she was married to a Dr. Stone. The only additional data I have of Betsey Stone is that she died March 14, 1870, and that she had three children—Augusta, Henry, Horatio. The family all moved to the Shaker settlement at Mt. Lebanon, N. Y., in 1841, some of them moving them back again later.

HELEN AUGUSTA Stone went to the Shaker settlement at Mount Lebanon, N. Y., with relatives about 1841, and at my latest information, which was 1902, she was the only member of the Shaker settlement bearing the name of Stone.

HENRY AUGUSTUS Stone, second child of Doctor and Betsey Stone, left the Shaker settlement and November 9, 1871, married Libbie Swingle. They now live at 221 Division avenue, Brooklyn. Their oldest son, George H. Stone, was born May 28, 1876, and married February 28, 1900, to Erla Terwilliger. They have one son. Harry A. Stone is the second son of Henry A. and Libbie Stone. He was born February 23, 1880. The third son is Howard I. Stone, born February 2, 1889.

HORATIO Stone, the third and last child of Betsey Stone, died among the Shakers at Mt. Lebanon at the age of 29.

TIMOTHY Scott, the 1st, the seventh child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born September 27, 1815, in North Bennington, Vt., where he died September 3, 1816.

ALVIN, the eighth child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born June 14, 1817, in North Bennington, Vt., and died October 3, 1834, presumably at North Bennington.

TIMOTHY the 2nd, ninth child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born January 24, 1820, in North Bennington, Vt., and died, unmarried, July 15, 1839.

ABEL F. Scott, the tenth child of Elijah Scott, was born December 21, 1821, in North Bennington, Vt. He went to the Shaker settlement in Mount Lebanon, N. Y., in 1841, then went to Baltimore, where on March 3, 1851, he was married to a Miss Little. In 1888 he was living in San Francisco at No. 308 Leavenworth street. He had no children.

SAMUEL M. Scott, the eleventh child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born December 6, 1823, in North Bennington, Vt. He went to Mt. Lebanon in 1841, but returned to Vermont and was married in Arlington, Vt., in 1847, to Miss Amelia Warner, who was born there in 1830. They had two children—Nettie and Walter G. Scott. Samuel moved from Vermont to Dakota and in 1888 was living in Richland.

NETTIE Scott was born in East Arlington, Vt., in 1848 and died in North Bennington January 29, 1863.

WALTER G. Scott was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1860. In 1888 he was living with his father in Richland, Dakota.

RUTH W. Scott, the twelfth child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born in North Bennington, Vt., October 16, 1827. She went to Mt. Lebanon with the family in 1841, but evidently returned from the Shaker settlement, for September 26, 1853, she married Daniel B. Briggs. In 1888 their permanent residence was West Winfield, Herkimer county, N. Y., though Ruth was traveling and lecturing the greater part of the time. They had four children—Hattie M., Eliza Woodward, George B. and Joe Briggs.

HATTIE MOULTON Briggs, the oldest child, was born in 1859. She married Bryant Peter and in 1902 lived in Butte, Mont. Their children were Ira Bowen Peter, born in 1884; Cora Marie, and Ruth Caroline Briggs Peter.

LIDA WOODWARD Briggs, the second child of Ruth and Daniel Briggs, was born February 7, 1862, and married Frank Livingstone Brown. In 1902 they lived in Utica, N. Y. No children. Mrs. Brown is a writer of note and author of "Words That Burn," a twentieth century novel.

GEORGE BOWEN Briggs was born November 12, 1863, and in 1888 lived in St. Louis. He married Ida Watts, by whom he had a son, Harry D. His second wife was Laura Pearson and they have a daughter, Zoe Laura.

ZOE CAROLINE Briggs was born January 6, 1867, and was married in March, 1886, to Fred Cyrus Johnson. They have a son, Halford Herman Briggs Johnson.

JULIA ANN Scott, the 2nd, thirteenth and last child of Elijah and Betsey Scott, was born May 4, 1829, in North Bennington, Vt. She went to Mount Lebanon, N. Y., in 1841, espousing the Shaker faith, to which she adhered through life. In 1902 she still lived at Mount Lebanon and was the only resident of the settlement bearing the name of Scott. I am indebted to her for much of the information here furnished relative to the family of Elijah Scott.
